July meeting with Travis Goldstein

Travis kept us entertained throughout the evening with his running commentary of what he was doing and why, along with how he got into Bonsai, his background, family, training and experience, his business California Bonsai Studio, and how he is dealing with water rationing.

Some of the tools of the trade above and left. He made a comment that he uses a mask as protection from all the dust generated from the use of the grinding tools.

And the proud winner of the raffle?

Greg Kathol!
