Trunk splitting demonstration.

At July's meeting, Lindsay, did a demonstration on how to increase the size of a slender trunk.

With a special tool for splitting trunks, Lindsay showed us how it was done. While centering it, Lindsay went as low as possible on the trunk. Then, he split the trunk and jammed a thin stick about 1/16" diameter through the split. After that, Lindsay did the same at 90 degrees of the first split. He then filled the gaps with a sealer paste.

The trees used for the demonstration were a Juniper 'Foemina' and a Chinese Elm that belonged to Dick Ryerson.

Thank you, Lindsay, for a very interesting and informative demonstration.

Article contributed by Alex Marien. Thank you, Alex.
