Lots of news this month!

Our October meeting was very interesting and lots of fun!!! There were trees, tables and accent plants. First, Lindsay talked about KEi-DO. The art of display. He then set up different displays using different tables and plants and we critiqued it. Others, took turns setting up displays as well. The room was full of creative energy. FUN!!! Copy of the hand-out will follow.

PLEASE NOTE

Our November meeting is November 15. One week earlier because of the Thanksgiving Holiday. Lindsay will not repeat the Formal Display Workshop. Instead, we will have John van de Wouw as our guest, who will do a demonstration on Junipers.

Election of Officers

It is that time of year again to elect or re-elect our officers for the club. Any volunteers? Please come to our next meeting. See below, for Bob Ahlstrom's notice with the names of the nominees.

Membership Dues

Elaine Jeché, our treasurer, is collecting dues for 2013. Please fill out the enclosed membership dues form and bring it to the next meeting or send it to Elaine at 453 1/2 Rall Ave, La Puente, CA 91746. Here are two copies, in case, you know someone who would like to become a member. Please fill out form completely. It will help Elaine update the membership roster, as well. Thank you

Our annual Christmas party will be held on December 2, 2012, at 1:00 p.m. at Lindsay and Debbie's house. Please see invitation.

Cookie/Snack sign-up sheet for our November 15 meeting.
Martha Bailey, Octavia and Walter Chin, Tom Lau and Pat Cabe.

Thank you for signing up.

Kei-do

Kei-do- Means the "Way of Viewing". The school of Kei-do teaches the long-time traditions, conventions and disciplines which have brought bonsai, grass planting, suiseki and the art of display to the confines of a room, specifically the tokonoma, or alcove.
(translation from a Japanese article,1994)

Keisho- This root word literally means "shape", but in oriental art it signifies also the properties: it is a law which enforces among other things canons of good taste and suppresses all exaggerations, in artistic peculiarities and grimaces.
(Bowie 1909,"On the Laws of Japanese Painting")

How Do We Begin to Understand Japanese Art?
By the study of:

1. Flower Arranging
2. Painting
3. Landscape Design
4. Bonsai Display

Law of Buddhism- (Triangulation)	TEN -	Heaven
	JIN -	Man
	CHI -	Earth

Law of Contrasts- (Opposites)	YING / YANG
----------------------------------	-------------

Element of Space- The word "space" (ma) has a very special meaning for the Japanese people. Space is not only that which we occupy, but also it is a rhythm, a time, a distance and a void. When we talk, we even value the physical space between people as well as the silence between words. Space is a necessity of our daily lives.

In the world of arts and crafts, space has always been a topic for discussion and the goal of a quest for adequacy. The school of Kei-do puts emphasis on space for the very same reason.

Kei-do not only discourages the meaningless placement of items, but indicates the rank of items to be displayed, by designating the principal and separating subordinates through the use of space. We strive to elevate space itself as a beautiful element of the whole.

The Spirit of Display- The significance of the art of display is to give status to one's creation or collection, and on the other hand, to exhibit cultivation technique as well as the innate aesthetics of the scene.

Connecting a small natural setting to the great outdoors within a limited space allows the viewer's imagination to capture the limitless universe. Thus the zest and charm of life itself unfold before the viewer.

We often hear the word staging in relation to Kei-do. The word staging may put undue emphasis on the act of producing the display, while the intent of bonsai and suiseki is one of grace, taste and elegance. They highlight not the host, but his or her refinement, taste and devotion to the art. To display them effectively may require a staging. But the method is never the goal. Artistry and quality are.

One needs no costly bonsai or suiseki, nor expensive tools and accessories to accomplish Kei-do. An atmosphere of elegance calls only for simplicity and modesty. Yet to create such a world, correctness and dignity can be achieved only through the conventions and rules of Kei-do.
